

October News

---

Halloween Celebration

On Saturday October 31st, the Triform Community and friends joined together for a thrilling Halloween Bash! People had their pictures taken at a photo booth, hand decorated by our co-workers, ate Halloween themed treats and danced the night away. It concluded with a fun filled costume contest, a surprise game of Halloween musical chairs and the first co-worker "donut eating obstacle course." Everyone had a spooky fun filled night!

Please visit our Facebook page for more spooky photos.

---

Triform's Fall Open House

Triform held its first open house on a beautiful Columbus day this October. It was very encouraging to have prospective parents from NYC, PA (Caphill Special Schools), as well as new families, former students with new connections to introduce, special ed teachers and neighbors. Falcon Hall was filled with all of these interested folks who were really receptive to the bell choir. We toured the community in the warm sunshine, stopping at the workshops, farm and gardens, estate and forestry . Art teacher Allison Fox held a special open painting class to demonstrate what a typical afternoon class would look like. We had many parent and board member volunteers who were fabulous at engaging our visitors. A big thank you to everyone for making it a success !

Fun at Family and Friends Day

This year we invited friends and family to come a little later in the month for a fun, activity filled day. We hosted an intimate dinner and had productive conversation in the conference room on Friday night for the Journeymen families.

Saturday morning was filled with apple cider pressing, baking of rolls, landscaping, cooking and of course the sounds of happy reunions and catching up. After lunch, many people walked the lovely path through the woods, past the newly renovated Swantek house.

After a hot cider break and a walk through of the new house, it was time to head back to Falcon Hall to see the original play "A Beautiful Secret", produced and acted by many Triform folk.

After that full afternoon, about 170 people sat down at festively decorated tables.

It wasn't over yet! After dinner, the tables and chairs were cleared away and a guest fiddle group and caller brought the energetic amongst us to our feet to dance together joyously. Thank you all for coming, it was a splendid weekend!

To read the full Family Day article and see more photos

Visit our blog

Harvest 2015

Every year the gardens at Triform provide. This year it was a good growing season supported by an enthusiastic garden crew. We are very fortunate to have productive land and the knowledgeable and hardworking crew to sow, tend and harvest the bounty. In this intentional community, we strive to provide much of what we need for everyday life: milk from the dairy cows; vegetables from the garden; dishes made in our pottery studio; all things we do not take for granted and for which we give thanks.

Visit our blog

Please

to read the full article about Triform's 2015 Harvest!

The thankful receiver bears a plentiful harvest.

This month our blog...

Features a beautiful piece on Family Day from one of our former coworkers, as well as some thoughts and elaborations about this year's harvest and farm. We are frequently updating and adding to our new blog, so please check back often!

To stay connected: visit our Facebook page and our blog

